GREAT STORM SWEEPS MEXICAN COAST

NEW CO-OPERATION BETWEEN CANADIAN BUSINESS AND FARMS

W. M. Birks of Montreal Declares Attitude of Canadian Chamber of Commerce

Delegates at Convention in Vancouver Hear Leader's
Address

Vancouver, Sept. 13.—Canadian business will accept the proposal of Premier John Bracken of Manitoba and will endeavor to co-operate with the agricultural interests for the betterment of Canada as a whole.

Business will do more. It will go more than half-way to a spirit of friendliness and co-operation between the men on the land and the men in the cities.

This was made clear by W. M. Birks of Montreal, executive chairman of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in speaking at this morning's session of the annual convention here. He put it directly up to Mr. Bracken to make a move in the matter.

Mr. Birks was reviewing the aims and objects and the scope for national good of the chamber, and after telling of the opportunities that existed for service, he went on:

"Let me say, after the notable address last evening of the Prime Minister of Manitoba, that we have our entire programme on the chamber's recognition of the interdependence of agriculture and commerce. Agriculture is our primary industry.

"If the farmers fail, we all suffer
and if they succeed, we all prosper.
Prosperous farming attracts immigration. Unsuccessful farming repels immigration, no matter how we preach it.

CONFERENCE PLANNED
"We will go more than half-way in accepting the Prime Minister's suggestion. First, there is to be a joint gathering of industry and agriculture.
If he will deliver the invitation, we here and now accept. Secondly, he urges an unprejudiced study of the tariff by the economic departments of our universities, and this we endorse to the full."

DEVELOPMENT AIDED
Mr. Birks' address, which was frequently applauded, showed the part the chamber was endeavoring to fill in national development.

The primary function of the organization, he said, was of course to obtain the matured judgment of business on national questions and to present and interpret those views to the government and to the public. In this the chamber was not autocratic. It served rather as the agency through

PRICES OF GRAIN FALL IN CANADA AND U.S. TO-DAY

North American Surplus of Wheat This Year Put at 630,000,000 Bushels

Chicago, Sept. 13.—On the market here wheat closed at 2 1/4 to 2 3/4 cents lower for the day, and corn at a net decline of 1/4 to 3/4 cents a bushel.

Leading authorities here said to-day
the Canadian Government crop report, indicating nearly 20,000,000 bushels larger production of wheat in Canada this season than in 1926, was about the most bearish document published in recent years.

NEW LOSSES
Winnipeg, Sept. 13.—Wheat prices sank sharply at the opening of the Winnipeg market to-day, reacting to the Federal Government crop report issued yesterday. The early decline ranged from 2 1/4 to 2 3/4 cents a bushel, and May delivery underwent the maximum loss.

The trading pit was virtually flooded with offerings, with very weak support from outside points. Liverpool cables, which were lower, also acted as a bearish influence.

All the coarse grains were carried downward, oats losing 1/4 to 3/4 cents, flax 1/4 to 3/4 cents, barley 1/4 to 3/4
cents and rye 1/4 to 3/4 cents below
Monday's close.

EXPORTABLE SURPLUS
Chicago, Sept. 13.—As analyzed in Chicago to-day, yesterday's Canadian Government wheat estimate, added to 40,000,000 bushels carrying-over, pointed to an exportable surplus in Canada of 660,000,000 bushels. Assuming a carry-over in the United States of 100,000,000 bushels, the official commodity estimated yield would make a surplus of 260,000,000 bushels, or a total North American surplus of 660,- 000,000 bushels, whereas world import requirements have been estimated of late as only 748,000,000 bushels, so that outside of Canada and the United States all other exporting countries would have to provide a total of 118,- 000,000 bushels.

MINISTERS COMING HOME FOR MEETING

Premier Returns to Prepare For Interprovincial Conference

With the return of Premier Maclean to the Parliament Buildings to-day after a visit to Vancouver, the cabinet is commencing to reassemble here. On Friday almost all the Ministers will be back in the Capital for a formal meeting.

Attorney-General Manson is expected here to-morrow after an extensive tour of his constituency of Ontario.
Hon. W. E. Rutherford, Minister of Public Works, will return about the same time after a trip of inspection which took him to many parts of the interior.

To attend an agricultural fair in Armstrong, Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, will leave for the Okanagan Valley to-night, returning later in the week.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, now in the North of the Province, is expected here before the end of the week and probably in time for Friday's cabinet meeting.

Premier Maclean is concentrating
now in preparation for the Interprovincial Conference to be held in Ottawa, commencing November 3. Extensive information on which the Premier will base his representations to the conference has been under preparation for some months.

WRECKAGE OF THREE PLANES FOUND IN ATLANTIC WATERS

Clues to Fate of Monoplane
Old Glory and Two Other Machines Discovered

New York, Sept. 13.—Waterlogged aer plane wreckage reported found at three widely separated points at sea to-day provided clues regarding ten brave adventurers who vanished into Atlantic skies in their great gambles over the deep.

The wild North Atlantic began yesterday to yield its secrets concerning the last monoplane Old Glory and possibly the last expedition of Nungesser and Gali, the monoplane St. Raphael and the monoplane John Carling.

The schooner sighted the wreckage partially submerged about 250 miles off Sable Island, "graveyard of the Atlantic," it was stated in a report to the French hospital ship Jeanne d'Arc now at Halifax. The schooner advised that the plane was of "yellowish color with black lettering."

GREAT AEROPLANE TAKING OFF IN FRANCE WRECKED

Stamper, France, Sept. 13.—A giant Fokker biplane piloted by Lions de Marrier and Louis Faurneau, was wrecked when taking off here this morning in an attempt to break the world distance record.

The big machine had progressed half a mile down the field when a tire burst, sending the plane over on its nose. The aviators, in an enclosed cockpit at the rear, were not injured.

De Marrier cut the ignition at the moment of the accident. This action prevented a fire, as the tanks burst, spilling 1,000 gallons of gasoline.

New Westminster Boy is Injured

New Westminster, Sept. 13.—Suffering from injuries to his head as the result of an automobile accident, Ernest Writanen, a boy living on Alberta Street here, was taken in an unconscious condition to the Royal Columbia Hospital this morning.

The lad was knocked down by a car at the corner of Alberta and Columbia Streets.

Development of Pacific Coast ports to further facilitate yearly increases in foreign trade will constitute one of the principal subjects for consideration at the fifth annual convention of the Pacific Foreign Trade Council, opening at the Empress Hotel Thursday.

The Department of Commerce at Washington, D.C., has recognized the importance of this convention by calling in ten trade commissioners and five foreign consuls from their foreign posts to meet the business men of the Pacific Coast in the discussion of their problems.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has contributed two speakers to the programme, and the Department of State is also sending a number of its officials. The United States commercial attaché here, studying the situations in foreign countries, will give individual attention to personal problems of delegates which relate to foreign trade.

Fifteen foreign countries will be represented and Pacific Coast cities are sending large groups of representatives.

Interests in their own harbors will,
it is anticipated by council officials,
bring many delegates to the convention.

Problems of finance and transportation will receive their share of attention over the session which will be held outside the United States for the first time.

DISTINGUISHED SPEAKERS

Particular interest is centring on the distinguished speakers to appear on the programme. Wayne E. Butterbaugh, director of the traffic management department, Le Salle Extension University, Chicago, has been secured to speak on the question, "Can Freight Traffic Between the Middle West and the Orient Through Pacific Ports Be

A. Lindbergh, in his silver winged monoplane, the Spirit of St. Louis, took off from the Spokane airport at 8:44
this morning for Seattle, his next stop,
via Walla Walla and Yakima.

Wreckage of the Old Glory was reported found by the steamship Kyle.
A rider and part of the wing of an undiscovered plane were found on the beach at New Quay, Cornwall, Eng., and a French fishing schooner reported having sighted wreckage three weeks ago 300 miles east of Halifax, N.S. No trace of the flyers was reported.

MANY DEATHS IN TYPHOON IN JAPAN

Villages Near City of Kumamoto Are Inundated by

Numerous Houses in Nagasaki
Wrecked; Telegraph Poles
Blown Down

Tokio, Sept. 13.—There was an unconfirmed report in Tokio today that besides the 100 or more drowned, 1,000 persons had perished
in one town near Kumamoto in to-day typhoon.

Dispatches from Osaka said the typhoon was the most severe for decades and that a number of important buildings in Nagasaki and Kumamoto had been damaged.

It was believed the rice crop on the island of Kiushu had been considerably damaged.

The scene of the storm was reported near Omura, where the round-the-world aeroplane Pride of Detroit is waiting to take off on its next hop to Kasumigaura naval station near Tokio.

HOUSES BLOWN DOWN
Osaka, Japan, Sept. 13.—Nagasaki
and other nearby towns on the island of Kiushu were struck by a typhoon
this morning. Many houses in Nagasaki collapsed, telegraph poles were blown down and the street car service stopped.

The other places affected suffered similarly.

CALGARY CHILDREN STAY IN OWN YARDS

Parents Urged to Take All Precautions Till Infantile
Paralysis Conquered

Calgary, Sept. 13.—There were no further cases of infantile paralysis reported in Calgary this morning, according to a statement made by Dr. Duncan Gow, medical health officer.

There are five cases of the disease
now under treatment here. Dr. Gow stated two of the children were so far only mildly affected, but that the other three children were seriously ill.

All the schools have been closed and children under eighteen are barred from attending theatres and other places of amusement and churches. In addition Mayor Osborne and the city health authorities are urging parents to keep their children in their own yards.

THREE NEW CASES
Edmonton, Sept. 13.—Three new cases of infantile paralysis in Alberta were reported in the last twenty-four hours,
one each at Stettler, Wainwright and Capinsland. Three suspected cases were reported in Edmonton, but diagnosis has not yet been completed.

The present cold weather is our greatest help," said Dr. T. H. Whitlaw, Edmonton medical health officer. "A continuation of this present cool spell will do more than anything else to check the epidemic."

Enthralling Series of Articles, Starting Saturday, Presents War From Hitherto Unknown Angle

Starting next Saturday The Times will publish the first of a gripping series of articles by Charles Lucieto of the French Secret Service on "Fathoming German Secrets of War."

The writer was a brilliant French operative of the allied secret service system in the Great War and describes the amazing hidden warfare, indefinitely carried on behind the armies by the two contending systems. The remarkable series of articles literally brims with startling revelations and tense adventures in the dangerous business of spying on spies and presents the Great War from a hitherto unexplored angle. The first will tell how a French agent of counter-espionage penetrated to Essen and witnessed the superlatively important test of a new gas shell before the Kaiser. The gripping interest of other articles are indicated by their titles—"The Race That Saved the Allies on the Sea," "Invisible Artifice Brought to Light,"
"Military Messages in Bars of Music," "The Most Dangerous Spy of Modern Times," "A Duel of Wits With the Queen of Spies," "Spiking a German Dash Through Switzerland," "Smashing a Plot to Ruin France."

Shut off your HERMETITE
oven and go to church

—when you return the roast will be done

"HOW can I go to church and cook dinner at the same time?" the housewife of old used to say. "It simply can't be done."

But what couldn't be done a few years ago is done by thousands of Canadian women today. With roast and vegetables baking in McClary's Hermetite Oven you can attend to your other activities, feeling perfectly confident that the whole meal will be deliciously cooked.

The reason is "stored heat". McClary's Hermetite is doubly insulated. The walls are packed with heat-proof material and surrounded by dead air space—the best insulation known to science. You have only to close the door to make the oven almost hermetically tight. The heat is thus retained inside the oven long after the current is turned off. Your foods go on baking without using up a bit more electricity.

You'll be as charmed with the other time and money-saving features of McClary's Electric Range as you are with the Hermetite Oven. You'll be delighted with its all-white, porcelain enameled finish—its great economy—its famous Speediron Elements.

Made in the very style and size you require, and sold at a price you can afford.

SPEEDIRON

McClary's Speediron Element is the greatest electric range improvement of modern times. Unlike old-fashioned elements, the coils of the Speediron are protected. If coils burn out after long service you simply lift the element out and have coils replaced easily and quickly—at the cost of a few cents. The only renewable, replaceable protected element on the market.

ACTION TO RECOVER LIQUOR BOND SUMS BY U.S. JUDGE

Rowell Lays Lengthy List of Submissions Before Customs Commission

Nineteen Distilleries at Many Towns in Canada Were Investigated During Sessions

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—A formidable list of submissions in respect of Canadian distilleries was laid before the Customs Inquiry Commission here to-day by Hon. H. W. Rowell, K.C.

Nineteen distilleries at various places in Canada were investigated. In the findings asked, specific mention is made of contributions for political and propaganda purposes by certain of the distilleries, and the commission is asked to state these were illegal "and the directors of the companies so contributing thereby committed indictable offences."

QUESTION OF BONDS

Action is recommended to recover the amounts of bonds given by distilleries in respect of which evidence would indicate that false landing certificates had been furnished. Proceedings to collect arrears of sales tax is recommended, but Mr. Rowell made it clear these had already been taken in many cases and that there had been recoveries.

R. T. Ferguson, appearing for certain of the distilleries, said his clients were willing to pay any money they owed. Referring particularly to Hiram Walker & Sons, he stated an employee of that company had been recruited in his duty and that irregularities referred to in the findings were without the knowledge of the company.

SUIT FOR SUM

The findings and recommendations presented by Mr. Rowell were, in part, as follows:

"The Dominion Distillers Limited, Montreal, was investigated by the parliamentary committee and an action has been brought by the crown against the company in the Exchequer Court of Canada for the recovery of a large sum claimed to be due the Crown. The investigation by the commission only covered the period subsequent to the investigation conducted by the parliamentary committee.

"Submissions respecting the United Distillers Limited and the B.C. Distillers Limited were presented at the sittings of the commission held in Toronto on April 12, 1927.

"Submissions respecting Joseph Beasman and Sons were presented at the sittings of the commission held in Toronto on April 12, 1927.

"The investigation of the commission has not disclosed any evidence of failure to pay customs duties by any of the distilleries.

"Consolidated Distillers Limited, Belleville, Ont., Wiser's Distillery Company Limited, and Hiram Walker & Sons Limited, Walkerville, Ont., entered for export and shipped substantial quantities of their products ostensibly to points in Mexico, Central and South America, without the payment of excise duty or sales tax, giving bonds as required by law in double the amount of the excise duty.

DISCLOSED BY EVIDENCE

"The evidence discloses that the export entries were false, the names of the consignees were fictitious, and the goods were not shipped to or entered at the port of destination named in the export entries, but landing certificates were procured and produced to the department certifying the goods had been landed at the port of destination named in the export entry and delivered over to customs. The Government was thereby led to believe the condition in the bonds had been satisfied, and the distilleries have been required to pay the amount of the bonds given in regard to said shipments. The said landing certificates were false and fraudulent and the production thereof did not satisfy the condition on the bonds and the bonds still remain in full force and effect."

HEROIC RESCUE BY ONTARIO AVIATORS

Schiller, Wood and Companion Save Blind From Fire in Newfoundland

Hollybrook, Nfld., Sept. 13.—Paul Wood and C. A. (Duke) Schiller, who interrupted in Newfoundland their projected aeroplane flight from Windsor, Ont., to Windsor, Eng., to-day risked their lives in rescuing a blind man from a burning house near Kelligrews, twelve miles from here. Four farm houses were destroyed when a forest fire swept a large area near that settlement.

Wood and Schiller had left St. John's in mid-afternoon to drive to Harbor Grace, where they planned to refuel their monoplane, the Royal Windsor, in preparation for a start to-morrow for Old Orchard, Maine, on their return flight to Canada. A second automobile with newspapermen and photographers accompanied them.

AID FOR SETTLERS

At Kelligrews the party came upon the fire. The three men decided to aid the settlers in saving their homes. Wood, Schiller and Fulgoni, a photographer, entered the burning residence of John Dwyer on being told a blind member of the family had been cut off by the fire in an upper room. With wet clothes tied about their faces, the three men made their way upstairs and brought the man out safely.

So quickly did the fire travel that several children and aged persons were saved with difficulty from other burning homes. In each case the settlers lost their entire property and savings, as the summer's crops had been gathered and stored in barns which were destroyed. Many cattle perished in the flames.

STREAMS DRIED UP

Fire apparatus was sent from St. John's, but because of the smoke and fire along the road it did not reach the scene. No water was available as the wells and streams were dried up.

which the opinion of business was canvassed, and when canvassed was given point and emphasis. It was the voice of Canadian business. It spoke the business language in relation to national policies of essential concern to business—and believed that what was good for business was good for the country.

BENEFITS PROVED

National chambers had proved beneficial to other countries.

Sectionalism, which was one of the difficulties in forming Confederation sixty years ago, was a problem still, the speaker continued. The Chamber of Commerce sought to obtain the opinion of the whole of Canada, and in such a way sweep away sectionalism. It was so constructed that larger member boards could not dominate smaller boards of trade. All had equal voting power.

"The parish politician," remarked Mr. Birks, "may struggle with the parish pump, but your chamber exists to create a national viewpoint for Canadian business."

"Again, it is a member of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, and our loyalty and interests are Empire-wide. We stand for Empire trade. What we can not get in Canada, we prefer to buy within the Empire. Then, too, our chamber stresses foreign trade."

The speaker pointed out that to-day with only 9,000,000 people the foreign trade of Canada was larger than that of the United States in 1900, when that country had 50,000,000 citizens.

IMPORTANT FACTOR

C. H. Wright, Halifax, in commenting on the address of Mr. Birks, declared emphatically that business had to recognize agriculture as a prime factor in the development of the country, and there should be the fullest kind of co-operation. His sentiments were endorsed by J. H. Holmes, Saskatoon, who declared that farmers should associate themselves with local boards of trade, and so affiliate with the chamber of commerce.

TOUR SUGGESTED

In a further discussion relative to the international economy of the chamber, J. Coultant of the Montreal Chamber of Commerce, voiced the opinion that if the 2,500,000 people of Quebec could be brought on a tour across Canada it would be a wonderful benefit to the Dominion. The French-Canadian businessmen were sympathetic towards the movement for unity of interests and the development of a better and bigger Canada.

QUEBEC'S GROWTH

The French-Canadian habitants had assisted in Canada's great problem of under-population by "raising large families of healthy, vigorous sons and daughters, teaching them to settle on the farms and forest lands of the Dominion." J. A. Paulhus, vice-president of the Montreal Chamber of Commerce told the delegates at luncheon.

With the French-Canadian population doubling every twenty years, Mr. Paulhus predicted that by 1950 they would outnumber the English-speaking Canadians.

Tracing the history of the French-Canadians, the speaker declared that besides being artisans, colonizers and farmers, they had contributed to Canadian achievement in arts.

S. B. Gundy of Toronto, president of the chamber, is presiding at the sessions.

THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY'S FOLLY

ONE OF THE MOST INTERESTING features in the result of the Federal byelection in North Huron is the large vote polled by the Liberal candidate, Mr. Archie Hishop, his total of 4,333 being only 198 less than that of Mr. George Spotton, the Conservative standard-bearer. The Progressive candidate, Mr. Sheldon Bricker, was a poor third with 2,725. It will be noted, of course, that the anti-Conservative vote was 7,058 against the Conservative total of 4,331. One peculiarity of the result, moreover, is that Mr. Spotton received 1,016 votes less than the defeated Conservative candidate in the general election of 1926. He owes his election solely to the division of anti-Conservative votes between the Liberal and Progressive candidates.

This contest has given the Conservatives an additional seat in the House of Commons. It has been gained at the expense of the Progressives. The Government may or may not have lost a supporter; but its standing is unaltered. Nor will the result cause any particular surprise to the Administration. The Liberals have not held the seat since 1904. It was considered a Conservative stronghold until the Progressive movement gained impetus in 1921 and the late Mr. John W. King captured it for the third party. He was re-elected in 1925 and again in 1926, the Liberals on neither occasion entering a candidate. It will be recalled, however, that the Prime Minister suggested to the U.F.O. a few weeks ago that they might return the compliment this time and allow a Liberal to do battle against a Conservative in a straight fight. But the Progressive elements considered their chances of victory were good enough in either a straight fight or in a three-cornered battle, and the suggestion of the Government leader was ignored. The result is another striking indication of what the electorate thinks of third parties. All the Progressives have won by refusing the Premier's advice is an opponent of the policies for which their party stands.

In consequence of yesterday's verdict the Conservative Party now has eighty-nine supporters in the House, the Liberals, of course, retaining their strength as before with 119 members. The Liberal-Progressives total nine, all favorable to the Government; the Progressives twelve; United Farmers of Alberta, eleven; with three Laborites and two Independents. It will be seen that as far as the distribution of voting strength in the House is concerned, the situation is very little different from what it was. And, in view of the strong Liberal-Progressive vote, the Conservative Party can not attach any special significance to the change.

LINDBERGH'S DAILY GRIND

COLONEL CHARLES A. LINDBERGH IS expected in Seattle to-day in the course of his tour of the United States in the "Spirit of St. Louis." His stay in the Sound City will be for a few hours only, since he still has many more visits to pay before he can settle down to his mail business and leave speeches and receptions behind him.

So far America's favorite hero of the air has met with no untoward incident during his calls upon the various states. It is to be hoped that the good fortune which attended him over the grey Atlantic will remain with him until his ordeal is over. Much concern is being manifested over him, however, and not a few of the prominent newspapers in the United States are beginning to ask when "this barnstorming" is going to stop. One journal says:

We see a complete and amazing indifference to Lindbergh's safety and a cruel, insensitive desire to enlarge his barnstorming tour to include every city of 50,000 or more in the United States. He has been barnstorming under the Guggenheim Foundation for more than a month. If he is to finish his original assignment for seventy-six cities, he must keep on barnstorming two months more. Meantime cities not included in the original itinerary are bringing every imaginable pressure to bear to induce him to include them. Is there no mercy left for this boy who captured the nation's heart, but who seems to have added its sense of proportion? Lindbergh is tired. The young face is developing deep lines of fatigue. His shoulders are beginning to show a characteristic sag. The daily repetitions weary him. The daily speeches bore him. The formal dinners appal him. He has been on exhibition ever since the hour he landed at Le Bourget. He is an overworked man. His countrymen won't give him a moment's rest. When the transatlantic crash on September 3, 1925, carrying to death Commander Landow and thirteen of his crew, the ship was barnstorming the Mid-Western states. How the country heaped its wrath on the Government for sending a great ship and a great flyer in a barnstorming expedition! Should Lindbergh crash in his boyish anxiety not to disappoint some provincial committee in high hats, how the country's wrath would again be heaped on those who encouraged this fine young aviator to risk his bones to provide seventy-six cities with a great holiday! Hindsight, but no foresight and no mercy!

Colonel Lindbergh can give a great deal of the cause of aviation. He is one of its shining lights. Our neighbor never would forgive himself if disaster should befall him while trying to satisfy the many demands his countrymen are making upon him as a provider of entertainment and thrills. What he is going through now uses up more energy and resource than his trans-Atlantic flight did.

PREPARING TO MEET THE BILL

BY THE END OF 1928, FOR EVERY dollar of British Columbia's public debt there will have been established a sinking fund that will pay it off at maturity.

This statement was made by Premier MacLean during the course of his address of welcome yesterday to the delegates to the second annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Vancouver. On the strength of that he felt he could assure the intending investor that he need not be in the least apprehensive about putting his dollars to work in British Columbia.

It is a matter of record that the financial policies of the present provincial Government have been favorably commented upon by many expert economic authorities in this country, while not a few newspapers, irrespective of political affiliation, have made similar complimentary references.

Notable in this regard, incidentally, are the recent comments of The Montreal Star, an ardent supporter of the Conservative Party in the Federal field and a journal of great prestige and influence. Among other things it said that "in Hon. J. D. MacLean, the Ministry has an able administrator whose plans for financial reform have effectively helped the Province over a severe time." The Star naturally notes that the Government's majority in the House is somewhat slender; but says "it has persisted in a policy of improvement for the railway"—the P.G.E.—"and in public finance and has succeeded in the task to a point where the future is brighter."

The "severe time" of which The Star speaks, of course, is that period in which the present Government was called upon to clean up the financial mess left by its predecessors.

OUR COUNTRY FIRST, ANYWAY

IT NEED NOT WORRY CANADIANS IF a visiting British journalist tells us we talk too much about our country; and when the morning paper says such a reminder is "an unpalatable truth" we still should remain unmoved.

We seem to recall that The Colonist has warned us many times about the number of Canadians who have gone to the United States to earn their livelihood because very little opportunity presented itself here. It is not necessary to enumerate the various reasons it often has given for this exodus. It is not even necessary to restate that former Canadians have been returning to this country at the rate of several thousand a month for the last two years because at last they have realized what they are missing in Canada. These facts are well understood by our people.

What a British journalist who makes a hurried trip across this country thinks of us we do not mind in the least. Many visitors to Canada have been guilty of lecturing us or of exhibiting various forms of bad taste of which keener students of national characteristics and national ambitions never would have been guilty. But we may remind the morning paper, since it continues to be apprehensive about loss of population—without cause—that one of the most effective ways of interesting our young people in their native land, of inducing them to remain here and participate in its development, is to tell them about it, its fine accomplishments, its present highly favorable position among the nations, and the important part it is bound to play in future world affairs.

Why should we hesitate to talk about our country? What special heed should be paid to a visiting journalist who thinks we do too much of it, yet who probably will return home and describe Victoria as a part of Vancouver or put the Esquimalt drydock on Burrard Inlet. We are the best judges as to whether we should talk about our country. It is not self-laudation, especially where visitors are concerned; what is said to them is said in the hope that the information given will help to correct some of the funny ideas about us and our country many people in other parts of the world have.

This is an advertising age. The country, like the merchant, that does not display its wares, does not get business.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE VIRTUES OF LIVING MEN
From The Toronto Star

The tribute to Sir Wilfrid Laurier which was voiced by Sir Robert Borden at the unveiling of the Laurier statue in Ottawa was a fine and chivalrous recognition of the virtues of a life-long opponent. "To me," Sir Robert confessed, "the House of Commons was never the same after his gracious presence moved no more among us. Without distinction of race or party his countrymen held him in happy memory, and accord to him a final fame that shall overbear reluctant time."

But if this tribute to the dead is a striking one it is even more impressive to find a leading Conservative newspaper acknowledging the accomplishments of a living Liberal premier, Of Mr. King's eloquence, The Ottawa Journal (Con.) says:

"Nothing finer has been said in all this week of splendid and moving oratory than Premier King's peroration to his address at the unveiling of the Laurier statue. The occasion was one to call forth the greatest effort, and the Prime Minister responded to it with touching and eloquent words."

It is a pity that the virtues of living statesmen cannot always be discerned and expressed in this frankly appreciative way. The fame of Sir Robert Borden himself will undoubtedly "overbear reluctant time," yet there are those even in his own party who grudge him the tribute which is justly his. Mr. Arthur Meighen has abilities and virtues which should be generally and cordially acknowledged. His successor in office, Mackenzie King, has measured up to his great task not only in eloquence of speech, but in breadth of accomplishment.

These men will all be praised when they are dead. It is a pity they cannot be seen in their true perspective now; not only by those who agree with them politically, but by Canadians in general.

Other People's Views

Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short and clearly written. The longer an article the shorter the chance of insertion. All communications must bear the name and address of the writer, but not for publication unless the writer wishes "to the best of his judgment and ability" and without fear, favor or partiality, honestly decide the complaints to the Court of Revision. The Court of Revision is the final authority in all matters of such court is, "To investigate the said roll, . . . that the same shall be fair and equitable and fairly represent the actual value of each parcel of land, etc." Some assessors are in the habit of "stalling" on the meaning of "actual value," and for some reason, or reasons, have based their assessments on the value of the property in the hands of the owner. In so far as this has been done, to that degree the mill rates are thrown out of comparison, and the carefully tabulated figures a waste of time for the official on the job.

ASSESSMENTS AND TAXES

To the Editor:—In your issue of September 9 you publish a table of comparative tax rates in the cities of British Columbia. Such a table should be valuable, but under existing conditions it is very misleading to the average citizen. The mill rates stated there are in some cases based on assessments so absurd that these rates indicate nothing.

The Municipal Act says: "For the purposes of taxation, land shall be assessed at its actual value. . . . Upon returning the roll the assessor, if he set out to the best of his judgment and ability, and without fear, favor or partiality, honestly decide the complaints to the Court of Revision. The Court of Revision is the final authority in all matters of such court is, "To investigate the said roll, . . . that the same shall be fair and equitable and fairly represent the actual value of each parcel of land, etc." Some assessors are in the habit of "stalling" on the meaning of "actual value," and for some reason, or reasons, have based their assessments on the value of the property in the hands of the owner. In so far as this has been done, to that degree the mill rates are thrown out of comparison, and the carefully tabulated figures a waste of time for the official on the job.

I will now submit a list of the assessment and taxes on some properties in various municipalities:

The first four of these corporations are, apparently, striving to operate in conformity with the Municipal Act, but North Vancouver appears very much out of line. In this connection a letter from the assessor of the city of North Vancouver is very full of information. Under date of January 30, 1926, he says:

"I beg to state that you are equitably assessed with the adjoining lots at $1,200. It is quite true that the city holds the adjoining lot to you at $400, but the price is no criterion as to the value for assessment purposes. The city has considerable land, which has come back to them through no fault of their own, and in studying the income of the ratepayers such as your self, it is necessary to put the lots down for sale at a very much less price than what they are assessed for so as to relieve the taxpayer of a burden unnecessarily thrust upon him and over which he has no control. The boundaries of the city are confined within a certain area, and it is necessary that the city raise a certain amount of money every year to carry on its existence, and the only means of getting that amount of money is by a tax on the assessed value of land. In some cities and municipalities they tax improvements as well as land, but in the city of North Vancouver land only is taxed, and, therefore, with a low rate of assessment of thirty-eight mills on the dollar it is necessary to have a fairly high rate of assessment, otherwise the city would have a bring the assessment down, as in your case, of which you complain, to one-third of what it is to-day. Therefore the rate would have to go up to three times as high, making it 180 mills on the dollar."

Mayor C. H. Morden says, "We could cut the assessment down to one-third of what it is now, and then it would be reasonable, but we would have to raise the rate."

From these two quotations, the first written, the latter verbal, it appears that the city of North Vancouver is making no attempt to base its assessment on "actual value" as set forth in the Municipal Act. From the illustrations given North Vancouver's assessment is far from "equitable" with assessment in other cities or municipalities. Having established some basis for assessment other than the Municipal Act of the Province of British Columbia, the roll so prepared should have no legal standing. Then what of tax sales, tax sale deeds and contracts involving the spending of money so collected? The validity of these appears to depend directly on the amount of cash the individual is prepared to pay for a high-powered lawyer, for one, an still left wondering if it is law or might which enables a Legislature to validate an illegal assessment roll.

From what I have set out it is evident that nothing of the kind can be learned from the table of tax rates which you published until we know to what extent the assessments correspond to present day "actual values." That assessments and rates may be valuable, for comparisons it may be necessary for the Provincial Government to undertake the work of assessing in all cities and municipalities in the Province.

NO BLAME PLACED IN AUTOMOBILE TRAGEDY

Verdict of Accidental Death Returned on Nanaimo Accident

Nanaimo, Sept. 13.—A verdict of accidental death with no blame attached to anyone was returned by the jury inquiring into the automobile tragedy Sunday morning in which Ernest Noel Ray Case, son of Mrs. M. J. Case, 415 Milton Street, met his death, when the car in which he was returning to Nanaimo from the district turned over on Concor Road at the corner north of the Quarter Way, pinning the three occupants underneath. When the three were extricated, some half-hour after the accident, Ray Case was dead and his two companions, Ernest Varden and Stanley Jensen injured, but not seriously.

Mr. Case was a native son of Nanaimo, aged thirty years, and had resided here all his life. He was a member of Doric Lodge, A.P. and A.M., and the Nanaimo Post of Native Sons, and was well and favorably known in a large circle of friends, being employed on the engineering staff of the Western Fuel Corporation. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Maxine, also by his mother, Mrs. M. J. Case, and his father, Mr. J. Case, of the Seattle branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and one sister, Mrs. R. W. Thomas, Cedar district.

WORKMEN ARE BUSY AT PORT NELSON

Hudson Bay Rail Terminus Construction Equipment to Be Sent to Churchill

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—A force of 200 men under the direction of George Kydd, resident engineer, is busy at Port Nelson, on Hudson Bay, reconditioning the floating plant there, preparatory to transferring it to Fort Churchill. In an announcement Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, says this activity is the first step to "put into effect the declared intention of the Government to act immediately on the recommendation of Mr. Palmer that the ocean terminus of the Hudson Bay Railway be transferred from Nelson to Churchill."

In addition to reconditioning the floating plant, consisting of tug, dredges and floating docks, the staff at Nelson is dismantling buildings and collecting material generally for immediate transfer to Churchill. The staff is composed of a 500-yard capacity steel dump scow, which has been transferred from the Public Works Department, will leave Halifax to-day for Churchill. This equipment will be towed by the tug Ocean Eagle and St.

DREDGE SENT

To make possible an early start in dredging and construction work next Spring, Mr. Dunning has arranged to send in at once such dredging plant as can be forwarded through the strait this season. The department's dipper dredge Kennebec has been conditioned at the Halifax shipyards and, accompanied by a 500-yard capacity steel dump scow, which has been transferred from the Public Works Department, will leave Halifax to-day for Churchill. This equipment will be towed by the tug Ocean Eagle and St.

MENJOU IS MERRY PANTRY MONARCH IN
"SERVICE FOR LADIES"

At the Capitol Theatre this week is Adolphe Menjou's latest Paramount comedy-drama "Service for Ladies." In this production, the sophisticated Menjou, as "Baroness de Saitan" departs from the phylandering roles that have characterized much of his work in the past. In his place is a serious, earnest Menjou, who, in the character of Europe's most celebrated head waiter, loves an American heiress.

Behind the scenes in an exclusive Paris hotel and winter sports in the Swiss Alps constitute the settings. We see intimate glimpses of the hotel and restaurant profession, glimpses that by their faithfulness and sympathetic understanding have won for Menjou the distinction of being the only motion picture star to be awarded an honorary membership in the International Geneva Association, an organization composed of leaders in the hotel and restaurant fraternity.

On the stage at the Capitol Theatre this week, there are two very delightful vaudeville presentations which include Mary Louis Treen and "Skooter Hartwell," lady bugs from Franchon and Marco's gorgeous stage presentation, "Bugs Innovation," which played to capacity houses at the Strand Theatre in Vancouver last week. The Lady Harpists Trio supreme has been held over for another week's engagement in answer to the repeated demands for an extended appearance here of this talented aggregation of artists. They will present an entirely new programme of melodies.

LION PROVES TO BE CAPABLE ACTOR IN
PLAYHOUSE COMEDY

Getting a cat to climb a tree is easy enough for a movie director, but persuading a caged lion to effect his escape by tunneling a hole in a pile of sand is another matter.

Johnny Hines bucked up against the latter condition while filming one of the hilarious sequences in his latest First National Picture, "All Aboard," produced by C. C. Burr, now showing at the Playhouse. Johnny personally directed the scene. He ordered the big cat, which had been erected on a set in the studio.

When the King of beasts stepped into his new home in the studio, fully fifty persons, mostly members of the cast, including Edna Murphy, Frank Hagney, Solin, Dot Farley, Babe London and others, were gathered about the cage, each with his eye on some vantage point above the floor to be instantly utilized should the lion decide to shatter the wooden bars.

Loa, however, went right over to the

ROD LA ROCQUE IS PROFESSIONAL DANCER
IN COLUMBIA STORY

What's your guess as to the meaning of "Gigolo?" In this case it isn't a hat, as you may have at first fancied, but rather a motion picture in which Rod La Rocque is the star, and which is the big feature at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

Gigolo is the French monicker for a professional who dances with women; as partners for money, in such famous Parisian cafes as Maxim's and the Cafe Marigny. The millinery world has applied the term to a particular shape of a woman's hat which this season has enjoyed outstanding favor. Originally, however, "gigolo" applied only to a dancing man, and as far as the milliners are concerned, it is a "stolen" term.

VAUDEVILLE AND
"NOTORIETY" OFFERED
AT COLISEUM

The Coliseum is offering another good vaudeville bill this week.

Baby Olar is appearing again with two entirely different acts, her first being a wire-walking act, very cleverly performed.

Also on the bill is Ralph Maddison, singing singer.

Harold Bechtel and Will Marshall appear in a comedy act entitled "Mind Reading." This act is a real laugh-maker, and promises to be the real hit of the show. The closing act is an aerial trapeze specialty and is performed by Baby Olar. On the screen is "Notoriety."

The excellent cast includes Maurice Powers, Mary Alden, Rod La Rocque, George Hackathorne, Richard Travers, J. Barney Sherry and others of prominence.

LOVABLE MADCAP OF SCREEN IN "HULA" AT DOMINION THIS WEEK

"Hula brings that lovable madcap of the screen, Clara Bow, to the Dominion. It will head the programme at the Dominion Theatre this week.

As "Hula" pet of the Calhoun plantation, Clara is said to have her best role since "It." She appears as a care-free miss who, on the eve of her twentieth birthday, falls madly in love with a handsome young English engineer, Clive Brook. Although he does not say so at first, he too, is attracted to her, the magnetic girl. Finally, the inevitable happens. Clara forces him to admit his love but at the same time, she also learns that Brook is the victim of an unhappy marriage. His wife, an unscrupulous fortune hunter, refuses to grant him a divorce. In addition to this, Clara finds another woman attempting to win Brook away. Now she emerges from her predicament providing Paramount's scintillating star with plenty of opportunities for showing off her own peculiar talents.

Ariette Marchal is the other woman and Maude Trux, Brook's wife. Arnold Kent enacts an Hawaiian who is jealous of Brook because of his love for Clara. Albert Gran is her disolute father and Agostino Borgato, her uncle. Victor Fleming, maker of "Mantrap," "The Rough Riders" and "The Way of All Flesh," directed.

NEWEST MARCH IS BEST, SAYS SOUSA

Tries to Make Each One
Better Than Predecessor

"Which is your best march?" was asked Lieutenant Commander John Philip Sousa, who with his band, will come to the Arena on October 3. His reply was brief and to the point. "At the moment of writing each march has seemed to me to be my best," he declared. "I have tried to make each march better than its predecessor and thus my newest would be my best. That, of course, is not necessarily so, but as I put my best into my composition, I feel that I am creating the best within my power. I believe that there must be no retrospection and so I strive always to do better than I have done and to make my hand the best in all the world. Response to my efforts has always been encouraging to me and I honestly feel that my band to-day is the best that I have ever directed."

Sousa and his band will appear at the Arena for two concerts on Monday, October 3.

"SENSATIONS OF 1927"
GAY MUSICAL REVUE
COMING THIS WEEK

The sparkling and gay musical revue, "Sensations of 1927," is the only offering of its kind pouring America that has caught the spirit and atmosphere of the Twenties. The revue is the Moulin Rouge of the Pacific Northwest amusement seekers. It is smart and brimful of jingling melodies, quick-step syncopation, bizarre costumes, bewildering electrical effects and rich scenic settings. It has been termed "a spicy salad with tasty dressing" and that phrase describes it aptly.

It is a masterpiece of its kind—gay, frolicsome, artistic. Presented in seven-teen chapters it piles one big surprise upon another until the "Land of Gold," which is the last word in lavishness.

The cast includes a score of entertainers with Barbara Bronell, American dancer, who is the star, in the foreground. The chorus, a score of bewitching beauties, a famous "pony" ballet of smiling, youthful girls, have proven a great asset toward the success of this delightful revue, which comes to the Royal Theatre to usher in the road show season, Friday and Saturday nights, September 16 and 17 with a matinee Saturday.

No Gray Today!

Fear of crude dyes no longer excuses gray hair. You don't have to use them. Kolor-Bak is a clean, colorless liquid that cannot harm the hair; and it does bring back the color. Not the weird hues women used to get from old-fashioned hair dyes, but the color your hair ought to be—the color it used to be.

Kolor-Bak acts gently—the change is gradual. That's why your closest friend can't detect it. Hair is left lustrous; only the gray is gone. Blonde, auburn, brown, black—any shade responds to this natural process. The one bottle is right for all.

Why experiment with anything—even on one lock of hair—when Kolor-Bak always gets the same perfect result—on a money-back guarantee! For sale at all druggists and leading department stores.

URGE ELECTION OF WOMEN TO CIVIC OFFICE

Local Council of Women Pledge Support to Candidates

Seek Representation on City Council and School Board

A determination to enlist the services of women on the Board of School Trustees and the City Council was expressed at the Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon, which resumed its meetings after the summer recess. The members present pledged themselves to lend their support in securing the election of women to these offices, should suitable candidates be available.

The matter was brought before the meeting by Miss Lottie Brown, convener of the civic committee, who saw much cause for congratulation in the outcome of the long-waged campaign for women police, applications for which office were now being considered by the city.

A WOMEN'S FORUM
Miss Crease, who was in the chair, opened the proceedings with a review of the outstanding visitors who had been in Victoria and whose interests lay along similar lines to those of the Local Council, referring particularly to Lady Cowan, Mrs. Flora Drummond, Mrs. E. H. Griffiths and Miss John, and Mrs. Mathway, telling something of their activities.

In quoting from an article on the functions of the Local Council, which appeared in The Colonist in 1907, as "not a benevolent institution, but for the purpose of collecting and connecting women's opinions, an open forum for the discussion of questions of vital interest to women, and non-political," Miss Crease pointed out that, provided the attendance at the meetings were good, the views of the council might be taken as representative of the views of the women of Victoria.

MENTAL HYGIENE
Miss Crease brought up the matter of the legal status of those suffering from temporary mental derangement from mental ailments caused by old age, or similar cases which under the present Lunacy Act were branded as lunatics, thereby branding them with a stigma causing much pain to themselves and to their relatives. The establishment of psychopathic wards in the hospitals was urged as a remedy, and the matter was referred to the mental hygiene committee with the recommendation that it get in touch with the B.C. Hospitals Association and report back to the October meeting.

Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, for Mrs. Angus Galbraith, reported on the splendid success of the bazaar for the Willow Fair in aid of the fund for the fund, and a hearty vote of thanks was expressed to Mrs. Galbraith for her able co-operation, and to those who had assisted her, as well as to all who had contributed cash or candy.

ENDOWMENT TABLE
The report of the endowment table fund for minor operations for children was also presented, showing that to date the fund stood at $601.98. The recent tag day with contributions from outlying Women's Institutes had brought the fund up to this satisfactory amount, which Mrs. Booth said would carry the table over for another year. Mrs. Booth was warmly thanked for her work in this connection.

Duke presented a report for the committee instructed to look into the matter of maternity benefits. A letter from Miss Carrie Carmichael of New Glasgow was read for material for the bazaar, and the page devoted to Women's Council matters in The World Wide Magazine.

The meeting was invited to send a delegate to the annual meeting of the Provincial Council of Women to be held at Nanaimo on Tuesday, September 20. The matter will receive consideration.

Vote of sympathy were passed to Mrs. Oliver in the death of Premier Oliver, and to Bishop Schofield in the death of his mother recently.

Several interesting presentations will be made at the opening exercises at the Esquimalt public school, to be held tomorrow at 1:45 p.m. These will include the presentation of entrance certificates of school board prizes to entrance pupils of the Canadian Club's Confederation essay prize to David Campbell, the winner, and of the Women's Institute medal and the bursary presented by the Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E., to Robert Irving, who ranked first in the entrance examinations.

The prayer meeting of the Gorge Presbyterian Church, Tillamook Road, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. Daniel Walker, will conduct the service.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MRS. MARY ELDERED

Mrs. Eldered will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

BUILDING TOWARD OBEDIENCE

Tiny babies, for their own safety, must be kept out of danger. This should not be made a matter for which the child is responsible. Don't tell the two-year-old that he mustn't run into the street and then punish him because he does. Simply keep him off the street by pens, or fences, or even a long rope to a tree, and tell him the reason for this is because it is dangerous. He will learn caution in that manner much more quickly than by letting him run into the street and then punishing him, for if he finds that nothing happens to him he won't know why you are punishing him. When you take him on the street, take care to stop at each corner and look both ways before crossing the street. He'll learn to imitate your example and caution will become second nature to him.

With older children if mothers will make questions of discipline as few as possible and enforce those necessary ones which are for the good of the child she will win respect for her opinion and the child will be obedient to it.

A child must be taught that as a member of the family there are certain things which he can and cannot do. Children have the idea that they are merely slaves of the whims of their parents, while the parents will explain that they, too, have to be obedient to the laws of society and that what they are teaching the children are simply submission to these higher laws, they would not find them so resentful.

Mothers are so inclined to enforce every trivial matter which arises in a household, fearing that otherwise she will undermine her authority.

The way to really guide children for their own future good is with kindness and love all the time. To be an understanding parent far outshines the glory of being a successful slave driver. Then one is helping to develop the child and still keep him respectful to the voice of authority, which in your case, he has learned is one of his own.

DEAN SAYS OLD COUNTRY NEITHER DEAD NOR DYING

Very Rev. C. S. Quainton Gives His Impressions Before Big Audience

"England is neither dead nor dying," declared the Very Rev. Cecil S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, in an address on his "Impressions of England," given at the Memorial Hall last night.

The speaker went on to say that the much mooted "poor old England" deserts none of our pity, in fact, although not disputing the hard times she has passed through, he said he had never seen her show fewer signs of poverty.

Notwithstanding the fact that many Englishmen look with envy at the prosperity of the United States, the speaker declared that the hour of a nation's prosperity is the hour of the nation's peril, the speaker commented. Furthermore, the religious and moral impulse of a people is stimulated by its need. And so let England but keep her soul and hands clean, and she will still be among the benefactors of the human race, he said.

DOLE A CURSE
That conditions in England are becoming better, was the lecturer's firm impression. The dole system he regarded as a curse, but he said that this will be eliminated eventually. The slums are gradually disappearing. During the last three years, 527,000 houses have been built by public corporations, the lecturer stated. In order to promote the physical welfare of children, a movement for the provision of land for playing fields had been started by the Duke of York. In caring for the aged, he reminded the audience that England had instituted the system of old age pensions even before Canada. Such improvements as these are helping to stabilize the Motherland.

"Indeed," remarked the speaker, "the revolution in England could only be brought about by one thing, and that," he said, "would be by trying to deprive the Englishman of his beer."

In speaking of the cost of living in England, the lecturer stated that food prices have dropped four per cent since last year.

OLD PICTUREQUESS GONE
Despite the fact that in many places he was able to catch glimpses of the old rural England, Dean Quainton said that a great number of the fine old estates were being carved up into small farms. In some cases the major houses were being turned into modern schools. He expressed regret at the passing of the quaint picturequeness that has always characterized all glimpses of English life. This he attributed to modern business conditions.

Especially did he note the dull uniformity of appearance of the houses of the modern Englishman. He turned to the stereotyped "lead-pencil figure" style of women, neat and hygienic, to be sure, but not possessing the charm of their English forebears. The Dean feared that some of the old politeness had been discarded along with the old picturequeness, and in place of the characteristic English courtesy of yesterday, one was too apt to meet with the flippant efficiency of modern times.

TEMPERANCE ON INCREASE
The lecturer stated that great improvement has been made in respect to temperance in the Old Land. Within the last three years the number of intemperates has greatly diminished. This movement, he said, is due to a desire for physical fitness, closer companionship between men and women, and wider education.

While referring to the subject of education the Dean observed there was a widespread demand for increased educational facilities particularly from the working class. England has met this demand by offering more scholarships for promising boys in the lower schools. This has been so successful that almost twenty per cent of the students at Oxford and Cambridge are scholarship boys, who otherwise would not have had the opportunity of going to university.

PATIENT MIDDLE CLASS
The lecturer dealt at some length with the industrial conditions in England. There were in July, 1927, 1,553,000 unemployed in England. A great deal of this unemployment he attributed to the slump in the coal trade, and the great decrease in foreign markets. In order to overcome this, Dean Quainton stressed the need of greater efficiency, more co-operative work, and the neces-

The Dean closed his lecture by expressing his earnest belief that England is standing firm, and that the united spirit is unbroken and indestructible. Owing to the overflow audience Dean Quainton has consented to repeat his lecture on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Memorial Hall, for the benefit of those who were unable to gain admittance last night.

WOMAN COULD HARDLY WALK

Mrs. Horn Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Hamilton, Ont.—I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and would not be without it now. I had a female trouble so badly I could hardly walk, and I was all run-down and could hardly get around to do my housework. I would be in bed three or four days at a time. I was told by a friend to try your Vegetable Compound. I did, and by the time I took two bottles I was beginning to get around again. I took ten bottles in all, and now I am all right again and doing my own work. I have six grown-up to work for. I have plenty to do. I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sensitive Wash, and I think it is good. But I owe my health to the Vegetable Compound, and I think it more of it was used women would be better off. I would not be without it if it cost much more. —Mrs. NELMIE J. AMESON, 905 East Canton Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

Do you feel broken down, nervous and weak sometimes? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such times. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently, will relieve this condition. (Adv.)

GAS IN STOMACH HURTS THE HEART

Thousands of Cases of Heart Failure Are Caused by Acid Indigestion, Says Medical Writer

Gas pressure from sour, acid, upset stomach is not only nauseating and highly uncomfortable but some day it may prove fatal. When your meals are followed by bloating, a feeling of fullness or pressure, shortness of breath and pain around the heart, you may be sure that the acid condition of your stomach is producing a GAS that is pushing upwards and crowding your heart. That's the reason for the shortness of breath, and sharp, shooting pain.

Whether young or old, the presence of stomach gas is truly serious and should always be given prompt and careful attention. To quickly banish gas, cleanse and soothe the stomach, neutralize the acidity—nothing is better than the daily or "as needed" use of ordinary Bismarck MacKenzie. It gives almost instant relief.

Any good druggist can supply Bismarck MacKenzie in powder or tablet form, at very small cost—but be sure you get Bismarck MacKenzie. Doctors and Druggists throughout the civilized world for more than 13 years. (Adv.)

MONTREAL AUDIENCE HEARS LORD HEWART

Montreal, Sept. 13.—Paying a graceful and eloquent tribute to the hospitality of Canada, analysing his impressions of the country and viewing Canada's development as an amazing and courageous achievement, Baron Hewart of Bury, Lord Chief Justice of England, addressed the Montreal Canadian Club last night. He spoke of the Maritime Provinces and their contribution to Canadian life and then turned to the "diversity in unity and unity in diversity" presented by the country as a whole.

The speaker dwelt on the agricultural wealth of the prairies and marveled at the progress achieved there within the last half-century.

BRITISH COLUMBIA
Nature had lavished wealth on British Columbia and the wisdom of that province when it entered Confederation in stipulating for a railway to join it to the East, as had been done by the Maritimes, was well established. As far as the Rockies were concerned, Lord Hewart said, visitors were tempted to ask, however rashly, whether one railway system might not have sufficed and the question was asked whether it was the heavy burden of these roads that was largely responsible for the weight of debt and the cost of living. Visitors, at any rate, might be permitted, he declared, to reflect that if

Canada's advantages consisted first in the qualities of her people, and afterwards in her vast and varied resources, a possible disadvantage might lie in the enormous expense of linking up the various parts of "this stupendous country."

SUITS ACTION TO FILM
Oklahoma City, Sept. 13.—As an epilogue to the film, "The Great Mail Robbery," which was being exhibited at the Liberty Theatre, robbers entered the theatre early one morning and escaped with loot worth $2,500.

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.
BETTER THAN SODA
For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as any drug store.

INSIST UPON "PHILLIPS"

A saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Each bottle contains full directions as to use.

Rumor That Tunney Is To Do a "Dive" Denied

New York Stirred by Report That Champion Offered $1,000,000 to Drop Title to Dempsey; Flynn, Ex-champion's Manager, Denies It, and Says Jack Will Win in Two Rounds if Tunney Will Fight and in Eight if He "Climbs a Bicycle; Tunney Laughs at Report; Cheques Passed Round Last Night; Champion Idle; Dempsey Resumes Secret Training

Chicago, Sept. 12.—The battle of Soldier Field, September 22, has been launched formally as the greatest financial spectacle in history.

Cheques were exchanged all around last night totaling more than a million and a half dollars to conclude the financial arrangements.

The cheque drawn payable to Gene Tunney is for one million dollars; Dempsey's was written for $450,000.

The total of these cheques, plus the $100,000 paid the South Park Board for the stadium rental, already is in the Tex Rickard coffers from ticket sales, which have exceeded $2,000,000. This is Dempsey's fourth million-dollar fight and probably the greatest of the four by far in gate receipts. His share of the purse will rank only second in the list of big purses he has won. Dempsey, champion, received more than $700,000 for the battle of Sequi last year. As champion now, Tunney draws the greatest sum ever handed out for an exhibition fight and more than any other boxer, except Dempsey, ever earned in his entire career.

Tex Rickard, his lawyers and the boxing commission spent yesterday afternoon drawing up the fight arrangements, to conform with the Illinois law. Signatures were affixed and the cheques handed over at 9 p.m.

The agreement will take the place of a formal appearance before the state athletic commission at its regular weekly session to-day. Since Chairman John C. Rigney, of the commission, participated in the conference with Rickard, acceptance of the papers to-day was only a formality.

The million-dollar certified cheque for Tunney is just twenty times as large a sum as has been posted with the Illinois commission. Rocky Kansas has given a $20,000 guarantee for his unsuccessful defence of his lightweight title in Illinois' first fight under the new law, a year ago.

Whispering of Tunney's intimates have given the true picture of the champion's finances, that he has spent just about all his share of the Sequi purse, Gene Tunney is not a man without any doubt. When the battle of Soldier Field is over, the commission will hand him a certified cheque for that amount.

Lincoln, Ill., Sept. 12.—Jack Dempsey worked out under the floodlights again last night at his camp here. He referred to one of a programme of amateur boxing matches at the Broadway armory and at the conclusion, the crowd surged toward the ring so eagerly, in order to try to Starting from Boston, the hiker swung through the southern states and up to Vancouver, B.C. They may accept voluntarily offered automobile rides. Curry checked in here yesterday.

Giants Tangle With Cards In Important Seven-game Series

World's Champs at Home To-day to New York; Interest is Extremely Keen

Pittsburgh Enjoy Two-game Lead and Chicago Are Practically Out of Race

After gaining an even break in their four-game series with the Chicago Cubs, the New York Giants were in St. Louis to-day for another series, involving much of the National League's baseball fortune.

Pittsburgh were still two games in the lead to-day after having swept their three-game series with Philadelphia. The New York Giants battered Charlie Root, Cub pitching ace, in the fourth game at Chicago yesterday. The St. Louis Cardinals again beat Brooklyn, keeping pace with the Giants in second place. The Cubs were three and one-half games behind the Pirates. The Cubs, however, have lost six games more than the Pirates, and, from fourth position, their glimpse at the pennant is somewhat obscure. The Chicago fans took the defeat badly and showered the umpire with bottles and cushions.

Who would put up the money? Who would hold it, and who would watch the man holding it?" asked Dempsey. "Dempsey has not been approached and does not expect to be approached. He will win by a knockout in eight rounds if Tunney 'climbs on a bicycle' in the fifth with friends in Lake Forest, last night, and planned to drive into Chicago to-day to see Rickard."

There are not gamblers with that much money to fix a fight," Leo said. "Dempsey has not been approached and does not expect to be approached. He will win by a knockout in eight rounds if Tunney 'climbs on a bicycle' in the fifth with friends in Lake Forest, last night, and planned to drive into Chicago to-day to see Rickard."

There will be only two or three more days of short workouts before the fight, because the champion feels he is in the best condition of his ring career now.

A day of rest yesterday sent the heavyweight champion on a long automobile ride all by himself in an effort to keep cool with the thermometer hovering around 92.

LAUGHABLE REPORT

Before he left, Gene took pains to deny that he had ever heard of "the ridiculous and laughable report" that an effort had been made to bribe him with a million dollars to throw the championship battle with Jack Dempsey, September 22.

"Such stories appear before every fight," said Gene. "This one makes the battle official. I shall throw every resource, every ounce of strength into the match with Dempsey. I believe I will knock him out."

Later, Manager Billy Gibson had some denying to do. He said he had had a long conference with a suit supposed to have been filed by Tom McPhee, a former secretary of the champion. McPhee is said to have demanded his annual salary of $15,000 as Tunney's social secretary.

THE ST. LOUIS-NEW YORK SERIES, scheduled to start to-day, is to cover seven games in four days, and it is possible that the windup will show one of the contenders virtually out of the running.

THE STANDING OF THE FOUR CONTENDERS is as follows:

Pittsburgh W. L. Pct.
New York 79 53 .599
St. Louis 77 55 .584
Chicago 78 59 .569

The Athletics hung on to eyelash mathematical possibilities in the American League championship by tripping up the Detroit Tigers 5-4, while New York loomed.

The Boston Braves took more on the chin yesterday. The Cincinnati Reds defeated them twice, 6-4 and 3-0.

Referee Nearly Counted Both Men Out Simultaneously; Bass Recovered Fast

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—With official title recognition in Pennsylvania, and a $1,000 belt to show for his sensational ten-round victory over Red Chapman, of Boston, Benny Bass to-day was ready to dispute with any rival claimed by the weatherweight title, vacated by Kid Kaplan a year ago.

Bass, twenty-two-year-old Philadelphia favorite, emerged the victor over Chapman last night at the Sequel stadium in a bout which threatened to end in a simultaneous knockout as both fell to the floor from the impact of a head-on rush at the start of the fourth round.

Bass recovered more quickly, got to his feet in a few seconds as the referee told a count of eight over Chapman, already a bloody figure from a gash over his left eye from being bumped by Bass in the seventh round.

On his man like a young tiger, Bass sent Chapman down again for a count of eight, but fought himself out trying for a knockout. Chapman, although in a bad way, managed to last the round. In the tenth, both seemed exhausted to do more than clinch and stab at each other weakly.

Bass, however, earned the unanimous decision of the judges.

WESTON LACROSSE Team Off For Home

Vancouver, Sept. 12.—Toronto Weston, who dropped the Mann cup to New Westminster on Saturday, left for home last night, going by way of Prince Rupert. The visitors' share of the Mann cup series was slightly in excess of $5,000.

A proposal by C. A. Welsh, western lacrosse man at New Westminster, whereby the Mann cup, which has been selected by the Pacific for many years, will be offered as an international championship trophy, and Andy Hamilton of Montreal will seek the co-operation of United States officials to have this formally ratified.

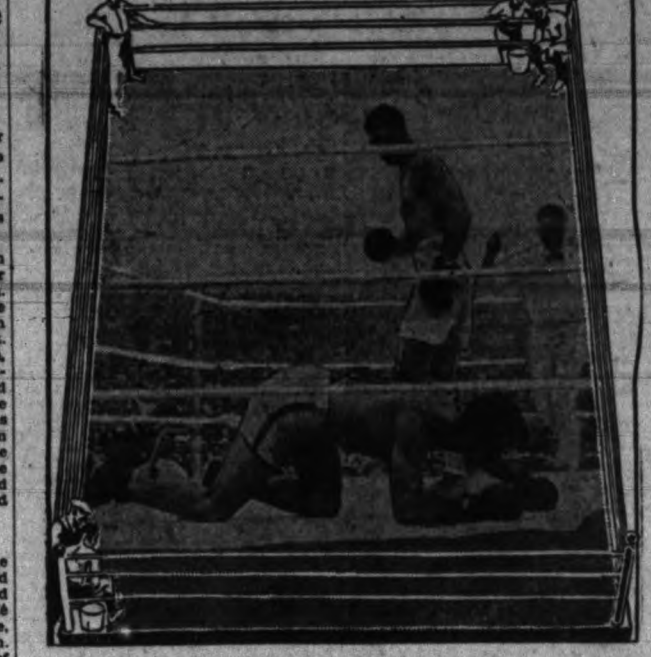

Finals for the Mann cup next year will probably be played in connection with the Toronto Exhibition. Eliminations will be arranged as in previous years.

TILICUMS TO PRACTICE

The Tillicums football team will hold a practice to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at Beacon Hill. All signed players and any others anxious to catch a place are asked to turn out.

INFIGHTING LED TO PUNCHES Dempsey's Greatest Knockouts

THAT PUT FRENCH IDOL OUT

TERRIFIC infighting, with many solid smashes to the jaw and heart, won for Champion Jack Dempsey over colorful Georges Carpentier, idol of France, at Jersey City in July, 1921.

The end came in the fourth round, one minute and sixteen seconds after it had started, and a right smash to the jaw put the Frenchman down and out.

Fighting vigorously, at his best at close quarters, Dempsey easily won the first round.

The second was Carpentier's round. He hooked Dempsey with a left and dazed the champion. He followed it with a crushing right and it was easily apparent to the 90,000 fans that Dempsey was troubled.

But over-anxiety to end the fight caused Carpentier to miss many blows and also made him lose his chance to leave the ring wearing Dempsey's title.

The third was Dempsey's round. Infighting again proved the feature, and the round ended with Dempsey superior to the World War hero.

A right to the jaw sent Carpentier down for a count of nine. Many thought this was the end. A right to the heart that slipped under Carpentier's left arm toppled the latter inert to the floor, head down. Then the finish—a right to the jaw.

It was not a popular victory, for Carpentier had been the sentimental favorite to win over the champion.

Head-on Collision Sends Both Boxers To Floor For Count

Bass and Chapman Fight Furious Bout For Feather-weight Title, Former Wins

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—With official title recognition in Pennsylvania, and a $1,000 belt to show for his sensational ten-round victory over Red Chapman, of Boston, Benny Bass to-day was ready to dispute with any rival claimed by the weatherweight title, vacated by Kid Kaplan a year ago.

Bob Kay, Miss Gay And Old Sinner Are Surprises At Races

Top Price of Day at Colwood Was $35.70, With Second Twenty Cents Shorter

Molter and Newsham, Jockeys, Hurt in Bad Spill, When Three Horses Piled Up

Colwood Race Track, Sept. 12.—The ponies ran wild here yesterday and good prices were posted on the board with Bob Kay just nosing out Old Sinner for the honor of paying the highest return of the day.

In the sixth race over six furlongs Bob Kay, with Anderson up, gained a nose decision over Hooreek, and his two-dollar straight tickets were good for $35.70. Hooreek led the field over most of the route and stuck grimly to the fast challenge of Bob Kay, but was beaten in the last stride to the wire. Bob Kay flashed through on the turn for home and moved up from third place in a whirlwind finish.

MISS GAY STARTS THEM

Miss Gay started the series of upsets yesterday by winning the first race in fine style and paid $27.45. The betters who read their horses in the form book had hardly recovered the first shock when Old Sinner galloped home in the second race to collar the place money and paid $35.50. This is the biggest place money of the present meet and was only twenty cents shy of Bob Kay's top price of the day.

JOCKEYS HURT IN SPILL

Another upset, which did not concern the monetary returns, occurred in the fourth race and, as a result, two jockeys, Molter and Newsham, are in the St. Joseph's Hospital. Ormleigh, the favorite, stumbled. Bell, who had a leg up, could not recover his horse, and she fell in a heap. Paywood, Molter up, and Felicitous, Newsham, failed to hurdle the prone Ormleigh and piled up. None of the horses were badly hurt, but Molter and Newsham required immediate attention. After preliminary examination they were rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, and it was discovered the latter was seriously hurt, but will be forced to rest up for a few days. Bell was lucky in escaping without a scratch.

GOOD START

C. Ross's Miss Gay was easily good enough to take the first race when under a fine ride by Bell, she was taken to the front soon after the break and held a substantial margin throughout. She rewarded her nose backers with $27.45 for $2 place boards. Alberta Lad challenged strongly toward the finish and, although failing to catch the lead, won in some lengths over York Belle, the show pony. Dolly Day and Ben Nevis both started fast but were soon left behind, finishing fifth and fourth. It was the first winner of this meet for Jockey Bell.

Old Sinner gave the form players a gasp in the second race. Coming through out over the mile and stretch the gelding from the Princeton stable beat out Cordovan for the place and paid $35.50 to those who had enough confidence to stick $3 on him. Volley, chestnut filly from the Heywood string, was easily the best in this race, getting the decision from Old Sinner by four lengths. It was De Ford's fourth winner in as many mounts. Volley was almost an even-moneyed favorite. Both Lucky Lou and Dorothy Drew showed early speed, and the latter held second and Tatters, she hit the hill on the stretch, when she stopped.

The Five C's, however, can be counted on holding a smart even and a good match should be witnessed.

The match will be played at Beacon Hill, and will start at 2:30 o'clock.

TWO-HORSE RACE

The third race was a two-horse affair. Lady Fennell and Pat Mabrey argued it out over the mile and twenty yards. The former got the decision by two lengths after taking the lead at the three-quarter post. Jockey Molter gave the Fennell man a hard time, but came on to win handily. Pat Mabrey got the lead going to the first turn, but lost it entering the stretch, when he seemed to "slow up," allowing the winner to get too much of a margin for him to overcome. Shadow Spark got the show when Herbert stopped.

When Ormleigh, favorite in the fourth race, stumbled, the race was a farce. My Friend Pat, a nine-to-one shot, was given an opportunity to get home, paying $19.35 to nose backers and $35.25 across the board. Bar was up on the wire, but was unable to stand up under the closing challenge of My Friend Pat. North Shore was third.

HEAVILY BACKED

The public bet the T. R. Stone entry off the board in the fifth event, but Pannon and Hong King reading a 9 to 1 shot. They found their mistake later when neither of the ponies got in the money. Hiram Taylor copped the honors with a fair amount of ease, and paid $13.75. Rey Schee, from the Smith stable, finished second, and Tatters, a local horse, third. Hiram Taylor and Tatters raced neck and neck until the stretch, when the winner drew away and Rey Schee came through with a fast rush which gave him the place.

BRITISH POLO TEAM DOES BETTER WITH NEW MEN IN ACTION

New York, Sept. 12.—The two changes effected in the British international polo team apparently have strengthened the invading forces for the second game against the United States to-morrow. In yesterday's practice match the challengers beat a picked team of three Americans and one Briton.

The British won with their new lineup yesterday when Pony kicked through the final point in the eighth chukker. Both Capt. Richard George and Capt. John Denning, the replacements at Nos. 1 and 3 respectively, stood out at times in the British attack.

Frenchmen Breeze Through Matches In U.S. Net Tournament

Forest Hills, Sept. 12.—René Lacoste of France, defending champion, to-day won his second straight victory of the national title tournament by defeating Gilbert Nunn, young Toronto player, by 6-0, 6-2, 6-4 in the second round.

William M. Johnston, who will meet Lacoste in the semi-finals if both survive until then, also won his second straight set match, beating Clifford B. Marsh Jr., formerly of Williams College, 6-1, 6-4, 7-5.

Forest Hills, Sept. 12.—Four smiling Frenchmen, playing with the confidence that comes with the Davis cup, bowled through their first round matches yesterday in quest of the United States turf court championship now held by one of their number, Hens Lacoste.

William T. Tilden and William Johnston, chief hopes of America, also reached second round, but others of the leading American stars went down in untimely defeat.

Among the upsets were: John Doe, the eighteen-year-old Californian who has been seen as future Davis cup material, and Lewis M. White, of Austin, Tex., who defeated Doug Brown, times this year. Doe was put out by Kenneth B. Appel, of Princeton, 10-8, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, and White by Arnold W. Jones, of Providence, 6-7, 6-3, 6-1, 6-0.

Two other seeded players to vanish were George M. Lott Jr., a second-year American hope for future tennis greatness, and Richard N. Williams, Philadelphia veteran. The latter two defeated.

A fifth seeded player who failed to enter the second round was Elysi Mikl, Japanese Davis cup player, who went down before Herbert L. Bowman, who court star, 6-4, 6-1, 6-2.

LACOSTE WON EASILY

Lacoste, titlist, walked stolidly through his match with Hens Lacoste, Frank C. Owens, of Atlanta, Ga., 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

OUR SERIAL STORY

"The Wife & Co."

By LYLE HAMILTON

It was Sunday when they returned to New York. The two trunks, Molly's suitcase, and Bob's new handbag were transported to the small hotel, where the fat proprietor escorted them to the corner room in which Molly once had slept.

CHAPTER XXIV

"We'll have to get a place as near the office as we can," Molly said, as they turned away from the hotel. "Why? I don't mind a car ride morning and evening," said her husband. "But you can't come home to lunch if we live 'way out,'" returned the bride.

"I can't come to lunch, anyway," he protested. "Sometimes I'm in one part of town at noon, and sometimes I'm in another—many miles away from the office. Besides, I don't get a chance to eat at a regular hour."

"You ought to," said she. "It isn't good for your health to just eat hither-sketter, at any old time. But I've been figuring it out. It costs you at least thirty cents, Bob—probably more—to eat at a restaurant."

"I'll say it costs more," he confirmed, with a laugh. "Well, we can save that money. There'll be enough left over from dinner the night before to make a nice lunch for both of us and I'll only cost a few cents, Bobbie."

"Molly, I can't do it," he laid his hand on her arm. "If I dropped my work to come home at noon it would take nearly two hours out of the middle of the day—sometimes more. I just can't do it."

"Bobbie, don't you want to see me saytimes?" "Sure I want to see you—but good heavens! I can't come rolling in fifteen miles to grab a piece of pie. You ought to know that, Molly."

She was silent for a time. Then she said: "Don't be cross with me, when I'm only trying to help you."

"But I'm not cross, Mollykins—honest. I'm not only telling you that I can't come home at noon—not more than once in a coon's age, anyhow."

"There are lots of girls," she pursued, "who don't care whether their husbands come home. Mary Holmquist wanted to marry an actor because he'd be away so much. I try to save money for you, instead of spending it the way other girls do, and I'm anxious to have your company instead of being glad you're gone, and you—"

"There were perils signs of tears, and Brownell hastily tried to soothe her. "When I make a lot of money, and get to be boss," he said, "I'll knock off at noon and we can take a ride."

"But this is now," she cried. "Bob, I've thought and thought and made all our plans, and it isn't fair for you to start upsetting them right away."

It was her husband's turn for silence. They had walked a full block before he sighed heavily and said: "There isn't any way I can work it, Mollykins. I can't quit work in the middle of the day, just to eat lunch."

"Then there's only one thing for us to do," she had regained control of herself. "We'll go 'way out and hunt a place as cheap as we can find."

"If we save fifteen dollars a month on rent," he told her, "it'll beat anything I could save by eating lunch at home."

"Let's not talk about it any more," Molly wound up the subject with a jerk. "Honeymooners seldom quarrel very long at one time, and the newly-formed Brownell family was no exception to the rule. Before they had reached the first promising address they had marked in the "Apartments to Rent—Unfurnished" section of the paper, they were in good temper again, and merry."

Luck was with them. The first place proved to be unsatisfactory and so did the second, but the third flat they had noted in the classified section was not far from perfect.

The building was new, and the wallpaper was fresh and bright. There were three rooms, all sunny, with a bathroom that glistened with white tile; a choker bath attachment above the tub; a mirror in the toilet case that had no wrinkles in it; a kitchen that had a high sink in it so Molly would not have to stoop so far, and a gas stove that won their admiration; more closets than either of them had ever seen in three rooms before; a wall bed; a laundry tub.

"It's a gem," Molly told the janitor who showed them the suite. "Isn't it, Bobbie?" He enthusiastically agreed. The price was very moderate. Molly paid a deposit, proudly stuffed the receipt into her handbag, and towed her husband off on a window-shopping tour.

cooking had penetrated the roast less than half an inch.

"I'll tell you," proposed Bob, "we'll cut off a few chunks and fry 'em in a pan."

Molly said nothing at all. Her first real attempt at housekeeping had proved a disaster, but she did not admit it. Later in the evening, however, after they had washed the dishes and retired to their new and pretty living room she said, pensively:

"I'll have to ask Mrs. Potter to come over."

"Sure," said Brownell. "Be nice to see the old lady."

"Yes," she said, gravely. "But Molly was frowning over a towel, which she was attempting to hem. "But I thought I'd invite the Stickos first, and if the dinner was spoiled it wouldn't make any difference."

"I see. You're going to try it on the dog," Brownell's surprise had turned into amusement. "If the Stickos dinner doesn't make 'em sick, then we can have the real folks. Is that it?"

"No str-e-a," she said, gravely. "Bob, was my dinner to-night so terribly bad?" "No str-e-a," he said, loyally. "Anybody might burn the potatoes and spoil—"

"I'll get Mrs. Potter," Molly decided. "She scolds a lot, but she can show me."

On Monday evening Brownell returned home at six-thirty. Molly's ex-landlady was bustling around the dining room.

"Got indigestion yet?" Mrs. Potter greeted him, after Molly had given him a kiss of welcome.

"No. Feeling bully," he said. "Glad to see you."

"You'd better be. You'd be in a hospital in two weeks if something wasn't done. I'm glad your wife sent for me. I hate funerals." She was filling a cream pitcher from a very small bottle of milk. "I never saw anybody in my life who knew less about cooking than this girl here."

She indicated Molly with a jerk of her head.

The bride bit her lip, but she spoke sweetly enough. "You'll teach me everything, won't you?"

"I haven't got time to teach you anything," responded Mrs. Potter, hastening into the kitchen to inspect the food that was on the stove. "You silly girls go to school two years to learn to hammer a typewriter, and expect to learn to keep house in one hour. I'll tell you what I can—but you'll forget it all."

The kitchen door swung shut and Molly turned to Brownell. "She's been ragging me ever since she got here," she complained. "Days I don't do anything right. She chased me out of the kitchen, and she's made vegetable soup, and is making something out of that meat we had last night, and has cooked some peas and potatoes—"

Brownell licked his lips, and said: "Umm! Let's ask her to stay all the time!"

Molly gave him a quick glance, but it was evident that he had not meant to cast reflections on his wife's cooking.

"Bob," she said, changing the subject. "Mary Holmquist called up. She wants to see us right after dinner, and she's the funniest thing! I believe she's been crying."

CHAPTER XXV

Brownell whistled. "That's right. When I got to the office this morning everybody gathered around to kid me, except little Sweden. She just don't at her desk with her head down."

"Did she cry?"

"I didn't notice. Grabbed my stuff and beat it as soon as the gang got through."

At this moment Mrs. Potter called them to dinner. The meal was strikingly different from the one Molly had prepared the night before. The soup was delicious, the new meat had become a fragrant stew, the coffee was delicious.

"If the high schools had any sense," Mrs. Potter said, as she took her seat, "they'd give girls one year's lessons in keeping the house clean and three years of cooking and sewing. They teach everything except what the pupils need to know."

"If they did that, girls wouldn't go to high school," Molly said. "Most girls don't want to cook and sew."

"Don't I know it?" The woman breathed heavily through her nose. "They all think they'll marry rich and won't have to work. That's what I thought. I never learned to make gravy, even, until Bill Potter was looking up at the daises. Now I haven't anybody to cook for. I wish I had a man!"

Brownell laughed. "Do you mean you'd like to marry again?"

"Certainly," said Mrs. Potter, sharply. "Every woman wants to be married. Look at me, all alone! If I'm mad, I can't take it out on anybody—just have to sit and swear at myself. If I cook something good, there's nobody but me to eat it. If I'm lonesome, what do I do? Go to the movie and hate the heroine. Don't you hate the brainless critters they have for heroines?" She appealed to Molly.

"I don't think so," said the bride, considering.

"Don't try to lie out of it! Of course you do! All women hate pretty women. You're too good looking to be popular, my girl."

"Why, thank you," Molly was pleased. "Don't thank me. I didn't have anything to do with it. If I had my way, all the women in the world would be ugly but one—and that one'd be me."

Brownell was enjoying this greatly.

"Why don't you go out and catch a man for yourself, Mrs. Potter?"

She dropped her knife and fork and glared at him. "Don't you think I've tried? But look at my face!" She directed her forefinger at her nose, her chin and her neck, one after the other.

"Who'd marry that face?"

"There must be a lot of men that would," said Brownell. "Think of the widowers and bachelors who don't get anything decent to eat!"

"I'm not going to marry to be any man's cook," she snapped.

"But I thought you said—"

"Never mind what I said. A woman married to be taken care of and babied. She doesn't marry so she can work for some lazy husband who can't even find his own slippers."

"But—"

"But nothing!" she shouted. "I can wish I had a man to cook for, but if I had him I wouldn't cook for him. I'm just as modern as anybody, even if I do look like an old crow." She took a deep draught of coffee. "If I marry again he's got to hire a cook."

"I've got an idea," Molly intervened. "Mr. Frasier down at Bob's office is a widower, and rich."

"In that case he'll marry some chicken," Mrs. Potter surmised.

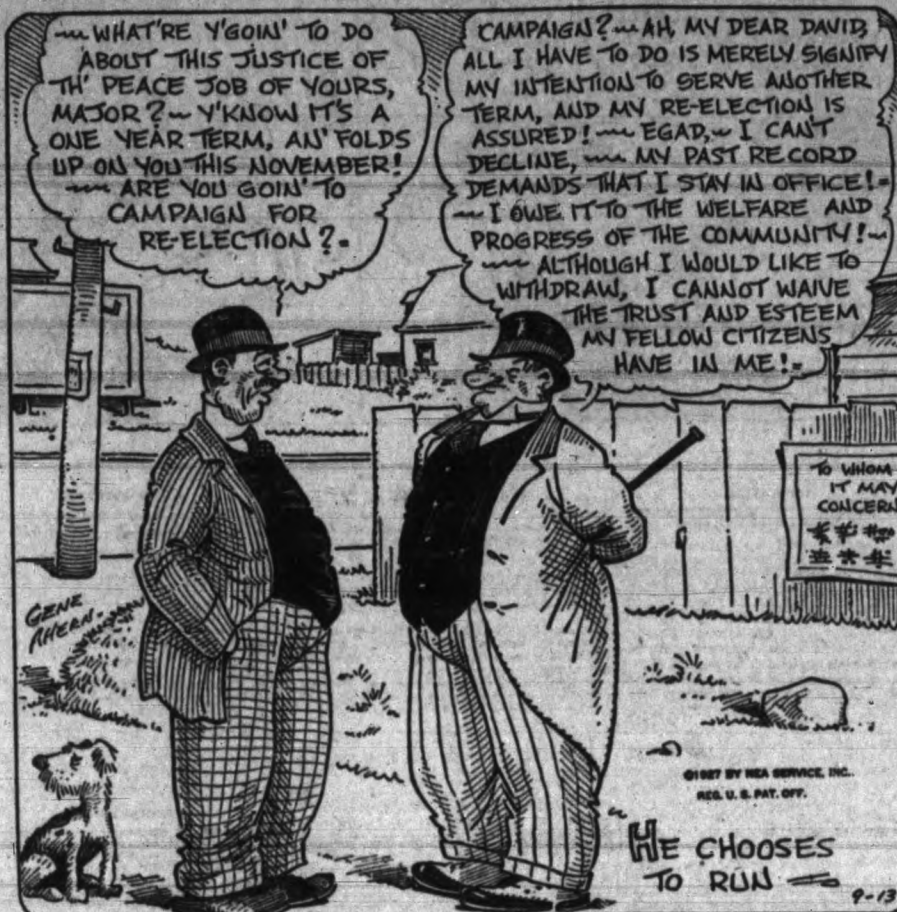

"No—the flappers have all been after him and he won't look at 'em. But he's lonesome—he told me so. He has a big house and three servants in it, and a chauffeur, and two cars."

Mrs. Potter arose and stopped to look into the mirror of the little sideboard that Molly had purchased.

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

"The Stars Indicate, But Do Not Compel" (Copyright)

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14

Although a benefic aspect dominates early in the morning this is read by astrologers as rather an unimportant day.

The planetary government seems to promise that most persons will feel cheerful and optimistic on awakening.

The mind should be clear and foresight should be trustworthy, while this day prevails.

There is a promising sign for the success of everyday matters, but important affairs should be deferred.

It is wise for women not to stress the importance of their personal wishes in business or domestic activities.

The rule is not an auspicious one for suitors, for girls are supposed to be capricious under this direction of the stars.

Weddings of this date probably will be more successful in establishing love than in assuring prosperity.

All the signs to-day promise more interest in education than at any previous time.

Schools and colleges will flourish in the coming year, never before, but co-education again will be discussed with more or less criticism.

International relations will be complicated by more extended exchange of students and professors than formerly, it is prophesied, but new problems will develop.

Political complications are to be uncovered in Europe and one may be of great interest to the United States.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have some sort of business that carries severe hazards and they should be cautious.

Children born on this day probably will be fortunate in financial affairs.

The subjects of this sign often receive legacies and unexpected gifts.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Um's Umbrella
Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate
(By Howard E. Garis)

One day, when Uncle Wiggily was hopping past the eleven and twelve cent store, he happened to hear voices.

"Well, madam, I will gladly sell you an umbrella. But when you have no hands to put it up or take it down, I don't see what good it is going to do you."

"Still I must have an umbrella," said a second voice. "It isn't because I mind the rain, of course. Being made of wood, as I am, rain can't hurt me. But I want to be stylish and carry an umbrella."

"That's just it," said the first voice. "How are you going to carry an umbrella when you have no hands?"

"I should think, if you sold umbrellas, you might also tell your customers how to carry them, even if they have no hands," said the first voice. "And this time the wooden voice was quite snippy, so to speak."

And then, all of a sudden, something happened. The wind blew hard, and not only hoisted the little mouse girl, but also raised the little wooden woman and carried her away.

"Oh, this is terrible!" cried the bunny. "I must save Um and her umbrella!"

And how he saved Um will be told in the story to-morrow night which will be about Uncle Wiggily and Jumping Jill—that is, if the monkey doesn't unlock the front door and let the pussy cat run away.

LAST MONTH SETS HIGH RECORD FOR AUGUST FINANCE

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Although August always has been considered the slowest month of the year for new investment financing, last month exceeded July in some cases, and set a new record for any August on record.

The August total was swelled by the offering of several large issues in the last few days of the month. Investment dealers, anticipating for this fall a continuance of the greatly increased amount of new financing that characterized the first six months of this year, in some cases offered their issues ahead of schedule and found a receptive August market.

During August $406,907,720 of new bond and note issues were offered to the public, according to the compilation of Lawrence Stern & Company, Chicago investment bankers. This compares with $404,614,500 in July and $294,723,000 in August of 1926.

The total for the first eight months of the year is more than 88 per cent. of the total for the full year 1926, and is about 32 per cent. ahead of the eight months' total for last year.

August offerings, excluding tax exempt securities, included 137 separate issues. This compares to July offerings of 184 issues, and 104 in August a year ago. Last month there were 49 issues of a million dollars or over; 54 such issues were offered in July and 109 in June. A compilation of the figures for August, compared with a year ago and with July of this year, follows:

	August 1927	August 1926	No. of Issues
Foreign	$105,225,000	$105,225,000	4
Railroad	$4,450,000	$4,450,000	5
Tax Exempt	$2,737,720	$2,737,720	20
Public Utilities	$7,112,000	$7,112,000	27
Industrial	$1,770,000	$1,770,000	23
Real Estate	$1,222,000	$1,222,000	66
Total	$146,907,720	$146,907,720	137

New financing by months for the eight months ended August 31 compared to last year and to the figures for 1926, are as follows, 000 omitted:

	1927	1926	1925
January	$78,770	$87,947	$27,180
February	$62,125	$62,125	$45,341
March	$12,882	$64,338	$45,625
April	$19,748	$23,384	$75,549
May	$49,464	$49,464	$45,641
June	$39,885	$23,613	$99,523
July	$43,415	$41,822	$43,245
August	$406,907	$294,723	$272,659
Total	$1,466,912	$1,417,054	$2,973,531

The Lawrence Stern & Company index of average yields of new corporate securities at offering prices declined from the 0.65 per cent. July mark to 0.6 per cent. for August. A year ago this index was 0.19 per cent., the drop thereafter conforming closely to the drop in money rates and the decreasing yield of listed securities.

It is interesting to note that for the first time the average yield of industrial offerings was larger than that of foreign issues. This indicates the very favorable terms on which several foreign countries have been able to borrow in the United States of late. That real estate and railroad issues are constantly yielding a lower return is shown in the large drop in these indices.

A compilation of the average yields follows:

	August 1927	August 1926	July 1927
Industrial	0.21%	0.20%	0.24%
Railroad	0.06%	0.07%	0.17%
Public Utilities	0.71%	0.85%	0.53%
Railroad	0.88%	0.82%	0.17%
Average (above)	0.22%	0.21%	0.06%
Foreign	0.16%	0.46%	0.94%

Of the forty-nine corporate and foreign issues in the million dollar class issued last month, New York City investment bankers underwrote twenty-four, totalling $242,635,000. Boston passed Chicago for second place by a small margin, underwriting $42,742,000 apiece $41,002,000 for Chicago dealers. Chicago, however, was respon-
